Timing with the Moon

Eight phases, twelve signs, and how to use them without handing your decisions to the sky.

BEFORE YOU BEGIN

Why time anything with the Moon?

The Moon moves through every sign in about twenty-nine and a half days. It is the fastest clock in the sky, and the only one you can watch change from your window.

People have planned planting, travel, and ceremony around its cycle for as long as there are records. This guide does not ask you to believe the Moon decides anything for you. It asks something smaller and more useful: that you notice where you are in a cycle, and act like it.

Used that way, lunar timing does three things well. It gives you a rhythm for starting and finishing, instead of one long undifferentiated to-do list. It gives you a reason to pause before big moves. And over a few months, it gives you data about yourself: when your energy rises, when it dips, when you start strong and when you finish strong.

How to use this guide

01 Find today's phase. Page 3 explains all eight.

02 Check the Moon's sign. Page 4 shows what each one supports.

03 Watch for void-of-course windows before a launch, a signature, or a first meeting. Page 5.

04 Plan the month, then the week on the planning pages.

05 Reflect at the Full Moon and at month's end. That is where the pattern shows up.

A note on agency

Nothing here is a prediction. A Full Moon will not bring you money, and a void-of-course Moon will not ruin a meeting. Timing is a lens for decisions you are already making. Use your judgment, your circumstances, and your common sense first. Use the Moon to choose between good options.

Try it for three full cycles before you decide whether it works for you. One month is an anecdote. Three is a pattern.

The eight phases

Each phase is a stage in one arc: from seed to harvest to rest. Here is what each one is for, the question it asks, and one move to make.

01 New Moon — SEED

The page is blank on purpose. Name the intention before there is proof.

If fear had no voice, what would you begin?

MOVE Write it in one sentence. Tell no one yet.

02 Crescent — GATHER

Something is real but fragile. Protect it and gather what it needs.

What obstacles appear when you move toward your intention?

MOVE Take one small, unglamorous first step.

03 First Quarter — ACT

The first real no arrives. This is where most people quit.

What are you avoiding deciding? What would happen if you chose?

MOVE Make the call you have been circling.

04 Gibbous — REFINE

Almost, but not yet. Close enough to doubt it.

What is 80% right that needs 20% adjustment?

MOVE Edit. Do not start over.

05 Full Moon — REVEAL

Everything is lit. You can see the whole shape, shadow included.

What has been revealed that you didn't want to see?

MOVE Show the work. Mark what it shows you.

06 Disseminating — SHARE

The exhale. What you learned is worth more given away.

What wisdom have you gained that others need?

MOVE Teach one thing you learned this cycle.

07 Last Quarter — RELEASE

Clearing house. Cut what you only carry out of habit.

What are you holding that was never yours to carry?

MOVE End, return, or cancel one commitment.

08 Balsamic — REST

The dark before the next seed. Less is the work now.

What needs to die for the next cycle to be born?

MOVE Sleep, clear space, do less on purpose.

THE MOON THROUGH THE ZODIAC

Twelve signs, twelve kinds of day

The Moon spends about two and a half days in each sign. The sign colors the mood of those days and suggests the work that comes easiest.

MOON IN	GOOD DAYS FOR	THE QUESTION
Aries FIRE · CARDINAL	Starting, deciding fast, physical effort, anything that takes nerve.	Where do I need to go first?
Taurus EARTH · FIXED	Money, music, slow building, comfort, things meant to last.	What is worth keeping?
Gemini AIR · MUTABLE	Writing, calls, errands, learning, short trips.	Who do I need to talk to?
Cancer WATER · CARDINAL	Home, family, food, care, memory.	What would make me feel safe enough to try?
Leo FIRE · FIXED	Making, performing, celebrating, being seen.	What do I want to be known for?
Virgo EARTH · MUTABLE	Editing, systems, routines, cleaning up details.	What small fix changes everything?
Libra AIR · CARDINAL	Partnership, negotiation, beauty, balance.	What would a fair version look like?
Scorpio WATER · FIXED	Research, shared money, hard conversations, clearing out.	What am I ready to stop pretending about?
Sagittarius FIRE · MUTABLE	Study, travel, publishing, big-picture plans.	What do I actually believe?
Capricorn EARTH · CARDINAL	Career moves, structure, commitments, long-range plans.	What am I building, and for how long?
Aquarius AIR · FIXED	Groups, networks, experiments, new tools.	Who is this for, beyond me?
Pisces WATER · MUTABLE	Music, art, rest, retreat, intuition.	What am I sensing that I haven't said?

BETWEEN SIGNS

The void-of-course Moon

After the Moon makes its last major aspect in a sign, and before it enters the next one, it is said to be void of course. The window can last a few minutes or more than a day.

Traditionally, things begun in a void-of-course window tend to drift, stall, or turn out differently than planned. You do not need to believe that to use it. Treat these windows as built-in pauses: time to finish, tidy, and rest instead of start.

Good uses

- Finishing and editing what is already underway
- Routine work, admin, cleaning, filing
- Rest, reflection, walks, sleep
- Time with people you already know

If you can wait, wait on

- Launches, sends, and announcements
- Signing contracts and making big purchases
- First meetings, interviews, and first dates
- Starting anything you want to grow

CHOOSING A DAY

Five checks before a big start

01 The Moon is not void of course. Start after the window ends.

02 The phase fits the move. Waxing (New to Full) for starting and growing. Waning (Full to New) for finishing, releasing, and editing.

03 The sign fits the task. A contract on a Capricorn Moon, a launch party on a Leo Moon. See page 4.

04 For the advanced: the Moon's next aspect after your start is a sextile or trine.

05 Then stop checking and start. A good-enough day you act on beats a perfect day you wait for.

REFLECTION

At the Full Moon, and at month's end

What is coming to light or to completion?

What did I start this cycle, and how is it going?

When was my energy highest? When did it dip?

What will I carry into the next cycle, and what will I leave?

FROM THE LUNAR CHAPERONE

A sample workbook day

The Lunar Chaperone walks with you through every half-cycle of the lunar year, one day at a time. Each day pairs a practice, a body check-in, and a question. This is what one Crescent day looks like.

Day 4 · Crescent

THEME · EMERGENCE

PRACTICE · CRESCENT CANDLE WORKING · 20–30 MIN

01 Anoint a white or yellow candle with olive oil, from the middle up, then the middle down.

02 Write the intention that is starting to emerge.

03 Light the candle and read the intention aloud.

04 Picture the obstacles thinning out.

05 Sit with the flame for at least seven minutes.

Intention: to strengthen the emerging seed with focused will. Never leave a lit candle unattended.

BODY · HAND AWAKENING · 5 MIN

Massage each finger. Rotate your wrists. Open and close your fists slowly. End with your palms together and notice the space between them.

JOURNAL

What obstacles appear when you move toward your intention?

What resource do you already have that you're forgetting?

EXPERIMENT · RUNS ALL CYCLE

Rate your energy from 1 to 10 every day for two full cycles. Then chart it against the phases and look for your own pattern.

KEEP THIS ONE HANDY

Quick reference

Print it, screenshot it, or tape it inside a notebook.

New Moon	Crescent	First Quarter	Gibbous
Seed · Write it in one sentence. Tell no one yet.	Gather · Take one small, unglamorous first step.	Act · Make the call you have been circling.	Refine · Edit. Do not start over.

Full Moon	Disseminating	Last Quarter	Balsamic
Reveal · Show the work. Mark what it shows you.	Share · Teach one thing you learned this cycle.	Release · End, return, or cancel one commitment.	Rest · Sleep, clear space, do less on purpose.

Void of course

- Do: finish, edit, rest, routine, old friends
- Wait on: launches, signatures, big purchases, first meetings

Three questions, every morning

- What phase is it, and what is it for?
- What sign is the Moon in, and what does it make easy?
- Is there a void window today I should plan around?

Waxing and waning, in one line

From New Moon to Full Moon the light grows: start, build, push. From Full Moon to New Moon it shrinks: share, finish, release, rest. Most of lunar timing is just that.
